Dear Nancy,
 I don't like a different way to write it, well you know me always different. I must say
 Nancy, that you are a very sweet and lovely girl.
 I just hope our friendship never ends & really treasure your friendship & get my best for to get from me & the few letters I've written this is a little something just a little more.
 Love Always

Dear "Kitten,"

Yes, I do agree with other people,
you are like a "Kitten" just as cute, sweet,
and lovable. You are one of the nicest friends of my circle of acquaintances.
And I'm hoping to have you always as a "close" friend. Ooh! that's to close your squeezing me. Hee-hee. Aren't I the best.
Anyway I'm hoping to still know you when your great grand children can call me "Auntie"

Love always,

"Kathy"

Best wishes

CLAY HIGH SCHOOL

FOREWORD

The staff presents this edition of the Crystal to the students and faculty of Clay High, hoping it will serve as future reminder of the school year of 1948-1949.

We have tried not only to depict the class and extra-curricular activities but to pay tribute to the centennial of the Gold Rush.

We extend our appreciation for the splendid guidance and patience of the Crystal advisors—the ladies who made it possible to meet those eternal deadlines—Miss Lois Bickelhaupt and Miss Sarah Fulton.

DEDICATION

One hundred years ago they headed into the setting sun—an endless stream of Forty-Niners—seeking the gold in “them thar hills”.

Today, one hundred years later, more gold than the Forty-Niners ever dreamed of has been gathered from the four corners of the earth, to be buried deep in the fertile ground of Kentucky.

To Fort Knox, Kentucky, the gold-seeker’s Shangri-La of 1949, we dedicate this issue of the Crystal. And with each copy we supply a pick and shovel.

Thar’s gold in that ground! Dig, boys, dig!

IN MEMORIAM

Only a few days before his death, Thomas Keckstein, Crystal Art Editor of 1948, submitted this sketch. We of the staff believe it to be a fitting tribute to those Clay High students who have died in the past year.

History of the "Forty-Niners" of Clay High

Several years ago we, the "Forty-Niners" of Clay High School, began an adventure which is now about to end. How well we remember that fateful September morning in 1945 when, one hundred fifty strong, we boarded the wagons for the gold fields of higher education. It took us four years to get there, but now that we've arrived, we're glad we stayed with it.

We were plenty green that first year, but we gradually became accustomed to the new ways and began to make a name for ourselves. By the time we were really starting to roll, summer vacation came along and forced us to take time out for a breather.

The next year, things got off to a flying start. Our whole group worked hard and made a success of everything we undertook. Our wagon train had now reached the half way mark in its journey and we were feeling pretty good about everything in general.

Gathering momentum at every turn, we set out on the third lap of our jaunt. Our final destination was now in sight. We tried to build up our financial reserve for the final year, but were not quite as successful as we had hoped. However, we made up for lost time during the last year.

We are now within a few steps of the end. The class has determined to use its money for the completion of the gateway which was begun by the class of 1948. We look back with pride over the years spent in striving toward our goal, and hope to make our fortunes in the world, as did the original Forty-Niners.

Prophecy

Toledo, Ohio, December 17, 1959

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

My journey from Toledo to California was one of high interest. But above and beyond the thrill of travel, my greatest pleasure was in meeting or hearing of all the forty-niners of Clay High School.

Having embarked on my journey, starting from the ultra-modern Toledo Union Station, my train ride was unique in every respect. The engineer, Cornealius Guy, waved to me and I was sure that I was well on my way to meeting my friends.

Perhaps it was fate that I wore my three-inch heels for I was thrown off balance when the train rounded a curve. Fortunately I fell into the arms of a handsome young man. This dashing New York businessman was my old pal and fellow rival in civics, Dan Ritter. We had very little time to talk as he was getting off at Chicago. Big business, you know. He did tell me, though, that Ron Koch who had been what we called a "big wheel" in high school was equally important now. He has a mammoth grain, cattle, and chicken farm in Ohio. The results and methods of his farming have been quoted in all of the important agricultural journals of the nation. Also he is on the Department of Agriculture Advisory Council for the State of Ohio in advisory capacity to the Secretary of Agriculture, Wade Wolf. Rumor has it that Wade is really getting up there in politics. But by this time we were in Chicago and Dan, after giving me his card, rushed off to close that big deal.

I noticed a smart looking young woman in English tweeds get on our train and her luggage caught my eye for there were seals on it from all the great cities of the world. She got out her portable typewriter with determination and I recognized Mildred Kucera for the foreign correspondent she was. But while we were hashing over the past years, I became aware of an increasing commotion at the other end of the car. Finally my curiosity was too great and I turned around to see quite a scuffle going on near the door. I gathered that a passenger was trying to bring something in that was contrary to the wishes of the porters. Evidently the passenger won for he proceeded down the aisle with something in his hands. It was Doug MacPherson with a hand full of his prize winning bees. He stopped, after confining his bees (at our insistence), and talked with us for a while. He told us of many things, one of which was that Bill Disbennett had struck oil in Texas and had become a multi-millionaire.

The train screeched to a stop. Five masked men leaped aboard our car. They had scarcely entered when the local sheriff came charging to our rescue with three guns blazing. The bandits threw up their hands in terror and cringed awaiting their fate for they knew the five of them were no match for "Fearless Fred". The three of us gasped as we saw that the law enforcer was Fred Coutts. However, he had no time to visit and just waved his greeting as he herded the outlaws to justice.

When we stopped in the next town, I saw that a newspaper extra was out and there was a great scramble to buy it. I, too, rushed out and bought a copy. The headlines told of a daring sea adventure by Captain Kenneth Sharlow. This is the story as it appeared in the paper: "During the rescue, in which a rope was suspended between the damaged vessel and the Coast Guard cutter to enable passengers to escape to safety, a tragic thing occurred. Just as a group of five passengers were midway the rope snapped and they plunged into what seemed an icy grave. As hope was lost, Capt. Sharlow of the Coast Guard dived into the briny depths and with superhuman strength and courage saved the victims by swimming with them, one by one (women first, of course), to the cutter. The rescued were: Shirley Heck, an art student from Paris; Anna Paternite, a rich society club woman touring the continent; the Countess Venquioux Donet la Traville, the former Shirlee Moore; William Olsen, captain of the wrecked ship; General Carl Plumb, of the National Rifle Corps. Tomorrow, Capt. Sharlow will be awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for meritorious service above and beyond the call of duty."

Impressed by this outstanding feat of another one of my classmates, I was bubbling with pride when I arrived in Pasadena and proceeded at once to my hotel, the Wintone-Bellhaven Arms. I immediately went to the manager's office and found that Warren Dix filled that official capacity. He welcomed me to his hotel and told me of the places of interest in town.

Acting on his advice that evening I joined George Ackerman who is now a nationally known criminal lawyer. George escorted me to the swank Zebra Club for dinner. We were greeted with splendid music on entering and looked for the orchestra. When the wielder of the baton turned around to acknowledge the applause, we saw Bill Poiry was the leader. We also recognized some of the musicians to be: Ben Berry, playing the trumpet; Dick Patznick, the trombone; Francis Winterhalter, the saxophone; and singing with the band was that sultry siren, Juanita Cluxton.

Prophecy

While we were eating, the proprietor, Karl Dreier, came over to say hello. He plans to open branch restaurants throughout the country. Many celebrities were there. I saw Rose Doneff, who has just completed two sensational novels—"Purple Sky" and "Blood on the Cactus". With her was Betty Long, poetess and author of "Odes to English Teachers and Mathematicians". Harold Clausing, who is now a real estate tycoon, arrived later with his friend, Roy Koester, who is an engineer of design for Boeing Aircraft Corporation. Also, I saw Bill Novin, quite the playboy since he inherited three million dollars. He was wearing a tux and looked "most assuredly" suave. We left early for I intended to tour the town the next day.

Bright and early I started out on the following morning and first off I saw a typical actor, dark glasses and all, who was none other than Art Dotson. He said, "Bon jour, Mademoiselle". Through the French accent, I gathered that he had just completed his film debut in "Morocco Escapades". However, he was in a rush and I continued on alone. I deliberately walked over to the corner of Hollywood and Vine . . . well, since no one whistled, a beauty salon seemed in order and inevitable. I decided to go in at the next edifice of feminine vanity. The coral and lime interior was dramatic and ultra modern. The stunning looking woman in charge was LaVonne Helle. While she was describing her clientele with me, Donna Degenfelder and Joyce Sigler came in. They were the new sales representatives for "Hyndman Cosmetics". Ruth, it seems, has a small twenty room mansion in Virginia. LaVonne called Mme. Catherine, her most skilled hair stylist. Mme. Catherine turned out to be Kate Dippman.

After these experts gave me the "works", I proceeded on my way. My attention was drawn to a monstrous billboard advertising the premiere of "The Saga of the Clay Klondike". The following is quoted directly from the ad: "The stars in this rough riding, romantic, and riotous production are Helen St. John and Charles Stith. It was written by Nancy Hansen and produced by Thomas Swy. Angela Mominee and Jeanne Busch were in charge of make-up and Violet Sherman designed the costumes. Special effects were created by Jack DeHart. The music was composed and conducted by Bill Gilliland. This colossal, stupendous, gigantic extravaganza was ably directed by Charles Cousino."

Because it was almost time for the football game to begin, I hurried on. As I crossed the street, a brilliant neon sign blinked repeatedly off and on. It was the giant show room of Carl Ackerman's Cadillac sales. Further on I saw a shop constructed in the form of a woman's fantastic hat. It was the home of "Brown's Beautiful Bonnets". I had heard that Arlene had a delightful collection of hats and only the excitement of seeing T.U. play U.S.C. kept me from stopping.

I met Donna McClintock before the game as we had planned. Her cross-country tour, beginning with her debut in the Hollywood Bowl, where she would appear in "Naughty Marietta", would start next week. We arrived just in time to see the stupendous parade honoring the Queen of the Roses, Marian Mominee. Before the kick-off the new owner of the L.A. Rams gave a short speech. The new owner, believe it or not, is Nancy Shuler. Donna informed me that Nancy bought the controlling interest in the Philadelphia Phillies last year and is making quite a career of it. The game was a close one, but T.U. edged U.S.C. out with a score of 163 to 2. The proud coach of T.U. was Don Steigerwald. His friend, Homer Shank, was coach of U.S.C. Carlton Schweibert described the entire event over both the NBC and CBS networks.

After the game Donna and I went over to Dale's Diner for coffee. Dale Seckinger was the jolly proprietor. The diner was filled with Clay classmates. At the counter I saw Helen Ballin and Jean Barlow who are professors of history and English, respectively, at T.U. Barbara Henninger, president of the rival U.S.C., was sitting glaring across the room at the president of T.U., Dorothea Thomas. Dave Heck, doctor traveling with the T.U. team, came in later for he had several sprains and bruises which needed his service. I saw Nancy Hindie, National Educational Director, being interviewed by that ace news reporter, Phil Moore.

The group soon scattered, however, for some of us were going to the Independent Party political banquet. A sudden California shower came up so I shared the taxi with Pat Daney. She said she was meeting her husband at the station and they were going to receive the Nobel Prize for outstanding achievements in chemistry. Pat has followed her life-long ambition and is now doing research in chemistry at the University of Michigan. The driver of the taxi was Earl Weidner. He told us he was driving for Tank's Taxis and that Clyde had a monopoly on the taxi service in California. Earl was only driving to help out during the rush time for he had a citrus farm in San Fernando Valley. Earl's greatest rival in the citrus business is Max Jobe, originator of the Juiceless Jobe Grapefruit. Max claims that there is "not a squirt in a squillion".

The banquet of the Independent Party was a great success. Larry Hughes was toastmaster. It was only logical that Larry should do this because he is such a great comedian on the stage. John Cavas as national committee chairman gave a brief four-hour introduction for their candidate for President in the 1960 election, Lester Meier. The entertainment was furnished by many outstanding stars of stage, screen, and radio. Featured was Gloria Conner who sang "The Song Without Words". Lois Brooks was a hit as a comedienne. Bob Thomas played the piano for Jack Fryman, who did his famous imitation of Al Jolson. Among other celebrities were: Lady Reginald Essex-Cornwall, the former Joyce Barlow, wife of the British ambassador to the U.S.; Pat Decker, a great Broadway actress, and Shirley Kleine, star of the Metropolitan's production of "Carmen", both of whom have taken New York by storm. Sir Reginald May, Lord Mayor of London, also addressed the group. Several women representatives of eminence were Elaine Coon, Dorothy Morse, Nancy Nightingale, Dorothy Rideout, and Madonna TenEyck. The splendid meal was devised and superintended by the National Director of Nutrition, Pat Hofbauer, who had flown from Washington, D.C., especially for this purpose.

The banquet ended in a riot when Mr. America, David Georgoff, flexed his biceps at the wife of the American ambassador to Arabia, the former Betty Heintschel. She swooned in ecstasy as did many of the other feminine guests. He jeered the attempts to revive these women and said, "I show no mercy. When I knock 'em dead, they stay that way."

Bob Joehlin had invited a friend and me to visit his riding stables, so the next day found us with Don Klebold in his two-tone Cadillac convertible on our way to Robert's Ritzy Riding Ranch. Don is president of the country club and a respected citizen of the community. He is also president of the First National Bank. Bob's home was a virtual palace. The garden was exceptionally lovely this time of year. Several week-end guests arrived before we left. The world renowned engineer, Dick Engel, and the Metropolitan opera star, Ludwig Spring, were among them. We all went to the country club for lunch.

Afterwards we played golf. Frank Stranahan, Cathy Hall, winner of the Wimbledon Open Golf Tournament, and Bob Fleitz were practicing for the national championship. Mary Lou LaBounty and her husband were there too on their winter vacation. They had just been awarded the title of the Most Happily Married Couple in Ohio. While we were playing, Tom Momenee arrived. He is a pitcher for the New York Yankees now. Since he has been with them, they have had an undefeated record. Tom suggested that we call on Phyllis Millard when we finished our game. Seems Phyllis made good in New York as an interior decorator and vacations in California.

We found Phyllis and many of her friends out by the swimming pool. Jim Liptack was present and as we had heard he had formed a model agency, "Liptack's Luscious Ladies", we knew that some of the beautiful women must be his models. Some of them were Margaret Muir, Sylvia Woodworth, Muriel Yost, Shirley Warnke, Donna Dresser, and Rita Fassett. A former model, Kathryn Peth, now Miss America, was talking to Paul Emlinger who was acting as lifeguard for his friends. Paul has won many swimming awards in the Olympics recently. In our honor, Betty Vincent, Rose Mary Vincent, Donna Wagner, Eleanor Koester, and Ginny Tank presented their water ballet under the supervision of their director, Frances Slemph.

That evening I reluctantly left for home after the most exciting week-end I have ever known. I flew back to Toledo in a Fletcher Fleetline Flyer. Ted has a mammoth transcontinental airline system. Viola Roberts was hostess on this plane.

I have now seen every one of our class of 1949, "the forty-niners". They have all made a success of their lives as everyone knew they would. I hope they are as lucky in the future as they have been up to now.

Sincerely,

A. ROINES (spell it backwards)

Directed by.....	Bessie Bodle

SYNOPSIS

The Carr tribe is in an uproar because rich old Uncle Caleb has befriended his old friend's granddaughter, 17-year old Penny Nichols, an orphan from the Ozark Hills. Horrors! What if he adopted the wretched little hillbilly and made her his heir?

Penny prevails upon Uncle Caleb to take a sea voyage for his health. A stormy sea and a radiogram from Uncle Caleb cause great excitement among the Carr relatives.

A search for Uncle Caleb's will and the reading of same proves to be disappointing but most interesting.

The hatred of Penny by the Carrs, the cheerful nurse, the refusal of Penny to be vanquished, provides a happy ending for Penny and frustration to the Carrs.

Junior Class History

Remember when we were just little atoms? We have developed into a bomb even now being groomed further by scientists (teachers) to make us explosive enough for our future tasks.

We, I am proud to say, are far beyond the Gold Rush—in the American history classes and out. We juniors are the youth of the Atomic and Shmoo Age.

Even though the airplane makes time fly so fast, I can still remember our little atom days—we were 155 freshmen then. Our class officers were Alvin Bargahiser, President; Don Mercer, Vice-President; Mary Klebold, Secretary, and Bonnie Sibbersen, Treasurer. The Student Council representatives were Janyce Blessing, Alvin Bargahiser, Neal Crews, and Jenni Szuch, while the class advisors were Miss Boles, Mr. Needles, Mr. Huyck, and Mr. Schaller.

The second stage of our development saw as president, Robert Wisdom; vice-president, Jacqueline May; secretary, Bonnie Phillips, and treasurer, Robert Breese. The Student Council representatives were Don Mercer, Ruth Schumaker, Clara Donnelly, and Lois Higley. Mr. Berkey, Mr. Potter, Mr. Wallace, and Miss Scheehle were the class advisors.

But now—now! We are in the upper halls being groomed for our big explosion (graduation) next year. This will always be the memorable year when we got our class rings, went to the prom, sold magazines to help buy a juke box, and attended the first official game in the stadium.

Our officers are Robert Breese, President; Nancy Hauter, Vice-President, Lois Higley, Secretary, and Joyce Seeger, Treasurer. Mary Klebold, Neal Crews, Ronald Shuler, Bonnie Sibbersen, Loral Browning, and Ned Smith are the Student Council representatives. This time the class advisors are Miss Ray, Mr. Greenler, and Mr. Pyle.

We don't have to hope, we know, that next year will be a goldmine of fun (and work)!

Row 2: Miss Ray, Carl Luhrs, Ronnie Shuler, Jackie May.

Junior Class Play - "Salad Days"

Nancy and Peter Hammond received a great surprise when their parents brought their studious cousin, Clementine, to visit them. Nancy was an average small-town girl. Peter was an eccentric boy who experimented in botany.

Clementine caused Nancy to lose Jimmy, her boy friend, and Peter to lose Sylvia.

Peter's plant died, but he again won the affections of Sylvia. Clementine was transformed into a beautiful girl, but she was still the brain child.

Everybody was happy.

Sophomore Class History

On September 3, 1947, one hundred sixty-three, prospectors started on a hunt for the gold mine of knowledge.

Their guides were Miss Fulton, Mr. Schaller, Miss Boles, Miss Bickelhaupt, and Mr. McCabe. They were as full of ambition as any prospector could be.

Soon after they arrived at the Clay Gold Mine, they organized themselves and elected officers. They elected Barbara Pancoff, President; Roger Rose, Vice-President; Bill Long, Secretary, and Jim Momenee, Treasurer. Student Council representatives were Barbara Pancoff, Roger Rose, Henry Schumaker, and Ted La Course. Mining advisor was Miss Bickelhaupt.

The prospectors got off to a good start by mining $173.13 in magazines.

By September 7, 1948, one hundred thirty-seven prospectors remained to continue their search for knowledge. They reorganized and elected Jim Momenee, President; Don Robeson, Vice-President; Fern Ellsworth, Secretary, and Joan Eberlin, Treasurer. Student Council representatives were Ted La Course, Carol Henniger, Dorothy Keeling, and Roy McCroskey.

This year's guides were Mr. Wallace, Mrs. Campbell, Mr. Berkey, Mr. McCabe, and a newcomer, Mrs. Grove. Mining advisor was Mrs. Campbell.

Freshman Class History

Clay is still marching on! It was on September 7 that 141 freshmen joined its ranks. We will not forget the exciting, but bewildering, explorations of the first day.

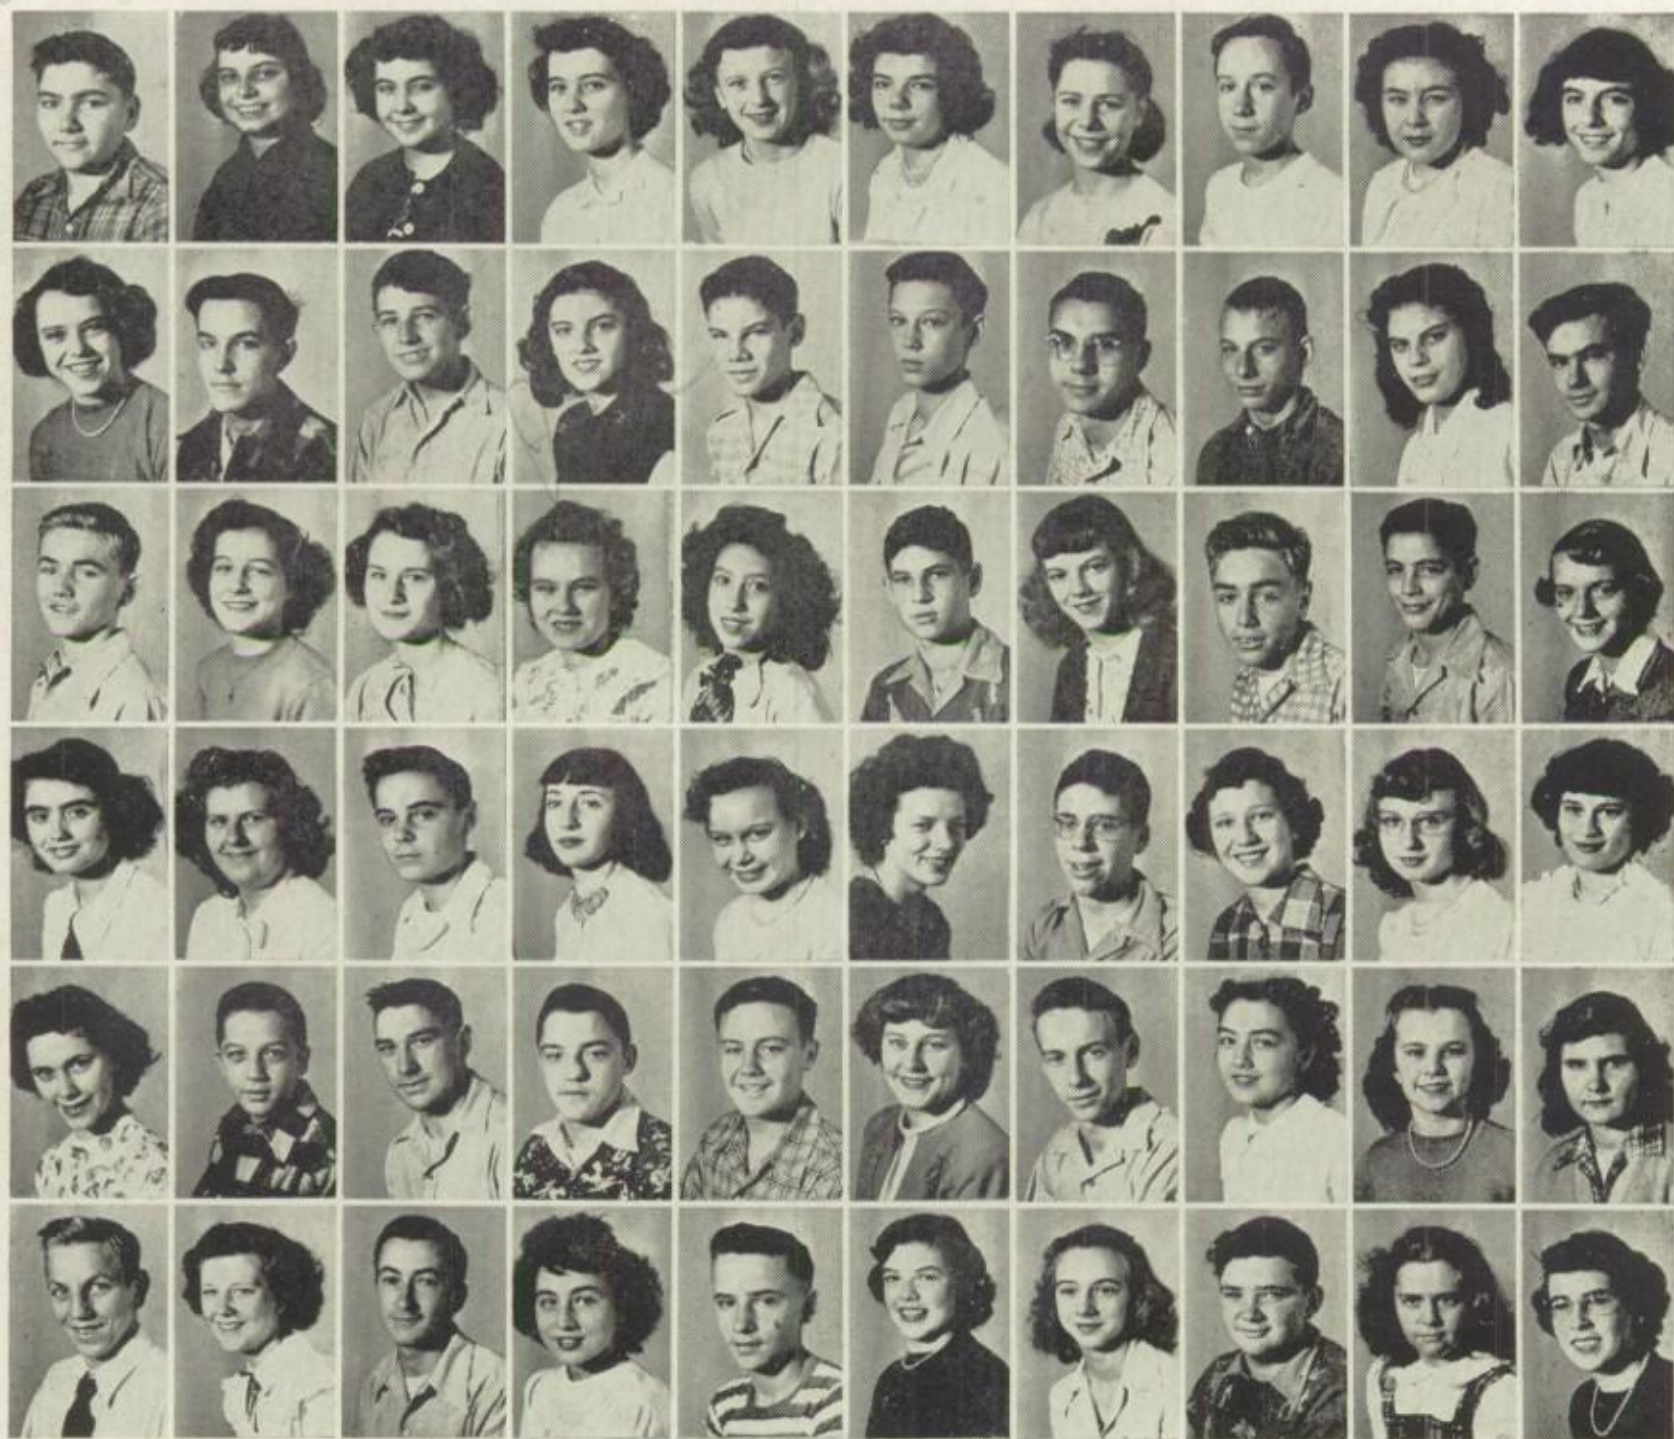

After the first exciting week and classes had settled down to routine, the weeks slipped by, and it was the middle of October before we held our class election. Tom Winkle was elected President; Don Haack, Vice-President; Jeanette Hall, Secretary; and Ray Tuck, Treasurer.

Our homeroom teachers were Miss Bickelhaupt, 106; Mr. Needles, 107; Mr. Schaller, 108, and Miss Fulton, 109.

Tom Gladioux, Ray Winterhalter, Emma Sue Mahon, and Don Schnee were the four representatives on the Student Council.

We are looking forward to another exciting year and we hope to do a bigger and better job as the sophomores of '49-50.

Student Council

OFFICERS

President	Lester Meier
Vice-President	Nancy Hindie
Secretary	Helen St. John
Treasurer	Ludwig Spring
Advisor	Mr. Morse

This year the Student Council functioned excellently in helping the faculty to supervise extra curricular activities.

They sponsored the noon recreation program, many excellent assemblies, fine pep meetings, ran the lost and found service, and sold ice cream during the noon hour to make up the Crystal deficit.

This year they also sponsored a magazine subscription sale and bought a juke box for the school. They also started a fund for a football score board.

On the social side the Council sponsored many fine dances. In addition they participated in the Area Student Council organization.

Crystal Staff

OFFICERS

Editor-in-Chief	Pat Daney
Assistant Editor	Nancy Weller
Business Editor	Ludwig Spring
Art Work	Pat Daney

Associate Editors	Dick Engel, Rose Doneff, Betty Long, Jackie May, Edward Brown, Barbara Bowers, Eugene Veler, Delores Hughes, Jane Beck, Ronald Koch, Dick Hillyer, Harold Sherman, Jack Lyons, Joyce Ames, Douglas MacPherson.
Advisors	Miss Bickelhaupt, Miss Fulton

The Crystal Staff worked as hard as usual to produce a better book. Members were kept occupied writing accounts of clubs, histories, prophecies, plays, sports, and seeing that pictures were taken and properly mounted, along with selecting a cover, theme, and dedication. The staff truly hopes that its labors have been appreciated.

National Honor Society

OFFICERS

President	Ronald Koch
Vice-President	Jean Barlow
Secretary	Dorothy Morse
Treasurer	Richard Engel
Chaplain	Douglas MacPherson
Advisor	Miss Ray

The National Honor Society of Clay High is a chapter of a national honor society. The members are elected according to the merits of Scholarship, Character, Leadership, and Service. The seniors who were elected this year were chosen in November, while the Juniors were selected after the first semester. These were formally accepted before an assembly in March.

Zetalethean Literary Society

OFFICERS

President	Nancy Hindee
Vice-President	Nancy Weller
Secretary	Nancy Nightingale
Treasurer	Marian Momenec
Chaplain	Bonnie Sibberson

The purpose of the Zetalethean Literary Society is to promote literary interests. Members are picked who have a "B" average in English and not lower than a "C" average in any other subject.

Cap and Dagger

OFFICERS

President	John Cavas
Vice-President	Richard Hillyer
Secretary	Pat Daney
Treasurer	Larry Hughes

The major project of the Cap and Dagger Society this year was a musical production entitled "The Gay Nineties Revue". This represented somewhat of a departure from the usual type of work done by the organization. Members showed a diversity of talent ranging from Barbara Henniger's excellent singing of "The Curse of an Aching Heart" a la Bea Kay to an astonishing dance routine introduced by Nancy Hindee. Richard Engel made his debut as Casper Cutthroat, villain of the piece, which followed along the lines of an old time melodrama.

Costumes used were original garments worn many years ago and found by the members in family attics. The club plans to produce a similar show next year.

Biophychem Club

OFFICERS

President	Richard Engel
Vice-President	Patricia Daney
Secretary	Mary Lou Klebold
Treasurer	Barbara Bowers
Advisors	Miss Bodle, Mr. McCabe

The purpose of this club has been to create and learn more about science. All members must have a "B" average in science and a "C" average in all other subjects. They also must plan to take four years of science.

Row 1: Mrs. Campbell, Sara Freshour, Peggy Schmidt, Arlene Brown, Lillian Stoycheff, Rita Fassett, Mildred Kucera, Georgianna Kucera, Shirley Gibson.

Spanish Club

OFFICERS

President	Roger Rose
First Vice-President	Georgianna Kucera
Second Vice-President	Peggy Schmidt
Secretary	Lois Higley
Treasurer	Sara Freshour
Advisor	Mrs. Campbell

The purpose of the Spanish Club is to give its members a better idea of the lives and customs of our neighbors below the border and to increase our knowledge of the Spanish language.

The club held a Christmas party, showed Spanish films, and had talks on South American countries.

We're the fugitives (meant liberally—from the Latin word liber, free) from the "Golden Age" (this age existed long before Sutter's Mill). Latin and related subjects are our main interests, although we don't stick solely to Virgil. However, he has given us some good pointers.

The Latin Club is devoted to furthering an interest in the classics and Rome. Since no club can run without money, gold or silver, a movie and splash party were sponsored by us.

If the New Member Drive proves successful, we hope to give a Latin banquet—complete with Roman dress and foods.

Vale! Until next year at this same time.

French Club

OFFICERS

President	Mary Lou Klebold
Vice-President	Jane Beck
Secretary	Fern Ellsworth
Treasurer	Nancy Weller
Advisor	Mrs. Campbell

The purpose of the French Club is to promote an interest in French culture, to create fellowship between the members of the club, and to promote friendship with French people.

This is a new club and did not have an initiation this year. However, the members have been very active. They write to school children in France and French speaking countries. They also have been sending packages of food to families in France.

Some of the other activities of the year were the sponsoring of a movie for the school, a Christmas party for the club, and a dinner at a French restaurant.

Row 1: Miss Jones, Jeanne Duez, Novella Ingmire, Judy Smith, Helen Dick, Mildred Weaver, Charlene Barchick, Darlene Adkins, Faye Gallaher, Janell Decker.

President	Rose Marie Mars
Vice-President	Carol Henniger
Secretary	Erma Harris
Treasurer	Helen Hudecek
Chaplain	Pat TenEyck
Advisor	Miss Scheehle

We got off to a good start with these hard-working officers. One of the first things we did was initiate the Freshman Y-Teens. We enjoyed the initiation even if they didn't.

We are going to give fifteen dollars for the rebuilding of the Y.W.C.A. in Manila. Some orphans are going to enjoy a Christmas party which we are going to give for them. Each member is going to give an orphan a small present.

Bible Club

OFFICERS

President	Jane Belkofer
Vice-President	Delores Gratz
Secretary-Treasurer	Dorothy Tober

The Bible Club this year is one of our very active clubs. Their activities included sponsoring the Easter program and raising money to purchase Bibles and send packages for the needy in Europe.

They have a point system to reward members for outstanding work.

The Model Club

OFFICERS

President	Gustav Okland
Vice-President	James Liptack
Secretary	Jane Beck
Treasurer	Donald Leonhardt
Advisor	Mr. Berkey

The Aeronautics Club has been "remodeled." It has changed its name to The Model Club. It has as its interests various kinds of models, such as model racers, boats, planes, etc.

The first main activity of the year was an indoor R.O.G. contest. Medals were given to those whose planes held the highest endurance and height record. The second contest held was for jet racers. Medals were given for speed and construction.

The club has various other activities planned for the springtime of this year. Among them is an outdoor contest for airplanes. Rubberband and gas models will be entered.

A gold medal will be presented to the most outstanding member at the close of the year.

Art and Craft Club

OFFICERS

President	Betty Eischen
Vice-President	Jeni Szuch
Secretary-Treasurer	Carol Speweike
Advisor	Mrs. Bauman

This year the Art Club is composed of twenty-two members. Our projects include visits to the Society of the Blind, to the Art Museum and to the Toledo Artists' Club. The object of these trips is to learn some of the ways in which the arts and crafts taught in the schools are employed professionally.

Commercial Club

OFFICERS

President	Cathy Hall
Vice-President	Sylvia Woodworth
Secretary	Esther Heintschel
Treasurer	Pat Decker
Advisor	Mr. T. G. Huyck

The main purposes of the Commercial Club are to promote interest in business subjects, and to purchase equipment for use in commercial courses. Our major source of income is derived from the sale of the "Clay Chatter", which we publish approximately once a month. A few social activities are planned and everyone is looking forward to a successful year.

The Girls (very) Athletic Association started the year off right with a rush (in this case not a gold but a silver one) of pencil selling. Each reader can testify to that! A movie was also sponsored, along with dances after some of the basketball games.

While we kept our eyes on the money, athletics played the largest part in our list of activities. During the bowling season we certainly should have received the prize for banging up the ball-runways!

Spring G.A.A. banquet was our big "shindig" of the year which was made possible by the selling campaigns.

Everything considered, we all agree—the club has given us all, and more, than we put into it.

Senior Hi-Y

OFFICERS

President	Dan Ritter
Vice-President	Ludwig Spring
Secretary	Lester Meier
Treasurer	Ronald Koch
Advisor	Mr. Greenler

The Hi-Y Club this year was a very active one. The club had speakers and movies for their meetings. The members participated in the Hi-Y basketball tournament, sponsored a movie for the school, and sold the "Clay Eagle" skull caps during the football season. In the spring their main social event was a party for the members and sponsoring of an assembly for the student body.

The purpose of the Hi-Y is to create, maintain, and extend high standards of Christian character throughout the school and community.

Junior Hi-Y

OFFICERS

President	Jack Lyon
Vice-President	Jim Momenee
Secretary	Robert Rohr
Treasurer	George Bowers
Chaplain	Don Couture
Advisor	Mr. McCabe

The purpose of the Junior Hi-Y is to foster Christian ways of living throughout the club, the school, and the community.

The club had its initiation in September and formal induction in November.

The membership is limited to Freshman and Sophomore boys who have fulfilled the requirements of the club.

The constitution adopted last year was put into effect this year and has proved satisfactory.

The club sponsored a movie earlier in the year. They have had numerous splash parties at the Central Y.M.C.A. for members only. They also had a mixed splash party opened to the public. On December 4, 1948, members of the club attended an open house at the Central Y.M.C.A. for Hi-Y and Y Teen clubs throughout the city. They are also planning to send some members to Y.M.C.A. Camp at Napoleon, Michigan, this summer.

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization of boys studying vocational agriculture in high school. The aim of this organization is to promote scholarship, citizenship, leadership, thrift, cooperation, and community service and to develop better farmers.

Some of the activities of the Clay Chapter are: pest control, livestock and poultry judging, a public speaking contest, a parliamentary procedure contest, and a parent and son banquet. Members display projects at the county and state fairs, attend the state and national conventions, participate in district activities, and attend the F.F.A. camp. Every other year the junior and senior class attends the International Livestock Show at Chicago. This year George Ackerman is the Northwest sectional vice-president of the Ohio Association.

The Future Teachers of America have done a wonderful job this year under the capable supervision of Miss Bodle. Early in the fall some of them had the beneficial experience of ushering at the Northwestern Teachers' Convention. November 8 they, in cooperation with the Mothers' Club, sponsored a very successful Open House. Two Future Teachers' Conventions were attended—one in Bowling Green, and one at the University of Toledo. For the merrier side a Christmas Party was held. During the course of the year the members have benefitted themselves and aided the teachers by observing, tutoring, and substituting. It is hoped that they have found their work interesting enough to carry out their ambitions of becoming educators of America.

The sour notes which sometimes may have escaped from the music room eventually turned into golden tones, as expected. The Glee Club started on its merry-go-round of engagements just before Christmas. The Jamboree was, of course, the highlight of the year.

Band

The band was very active again this year. During the football season, besides playing for all the home games they played at the Gibsonburg, Genoa, and the Ottawa Hills game which was played at the Waite Stadium as a preliminary game to a Waite game. They also played at the Conference Premiere at Maumee. They marched in the Armistice Day parade and at the Lucas County Fair. They played at the Fall Festival at Oak Harbor. After the marching season they settled down and started to practice to play in concerts at various grade schools, for the Mothers' Club, and to participate in the All-Conference Band Concert at Sylvania Burnham. The band owes much of its success to its instructor, Mr. Will, for his efforts in helping them to keep in formation.

Buckeye Girls' State

Girls' State is a forum held each summer on the campus of some Ohio college; the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion sponsors it. A representative girl is selected from the junior class who is outstanding in leadership, scholarship, citizenship, and character.

During the week the girls are instructed in city and state government. The whole camp is run like a mock state. Elections for state and city offices are conducted and the elected officials, in turn, carry on the duties of the respective offices. The campaign for the offices by the girls is not lacking with zeal. A well-known state senator together with other prominent men give lectures. The girls have an enjoyable time outside of the hours of instruction as well as in it. Parties, including a formal dance with the boys from Boys' State at the end of the week, are held. Playing pranks on one another affords much fun.

Last year our representative to Girls' State was Nancy Hindie, who learned many things and had a very pleasant and worth-while time. The girl elected to represent Clay High School this year is Mary Lou Klebold.

Buckeye Boys' State

Every year since Buckeye Boys' State was founded in 1937 by the American Legion, Dunberger Unit 537 has sent one boy from Clay High School. This boy is an outstanding junior. He must have a high scholarship standing, moral character, an interest in government, courage, mental alertness, and willingness to take initiative and to assume responsibility.

Juniors from about every high school in the state gather at some university for ten days of a combination of work and play. These representatives are divided into two political parties, the Nationalists and the Federalists, who carry on a model state government patterned after the government of the state of Ohio. Every night a program is given, including moving pictures (current hits) and interesting speakers. The governor usually attends one of the meetings.

Boys from Clay High who have been sent to Boys' State by the Dunbarger Unit include the following: Charles Whitacre, Berthold Fleitz, Melvin Arnold, Jack Klotz, David Grove, Jack Widener, Robert Douglass, Richard Bourdo, James Klotz, Don Breese, and Douglas MacPherson.

Basketball

NOVEMBER 30, LAKE

The Eagles lost a very close opening game to Lake by a score of 24 to 20. They were just one step behind all the way, the half-time score being 10 to 9 in favor of the Flyers. Wisdom scored 6 for Clay.

The Reserves started off with a 24-12 win.

DECEMBER 7, AT OLNEY

Olney proved just a little bit too strong for the Clay five, winning 55 to 49. John Cavas dropped in 21 points, the highest individual Clay score of the season.

The Reserves won their second game. The score: 40 to 23.

DECEMBER 10, MAUMEE

The first league game went to Maumee in a tough 51 to 39 game on our own floor. It was a fight to the end, the score at the half being 16, 13 Clay.

The Reserves slipped behind in the second half to lose, 29 to 36.

DECEMBER 14, GENOA

The Clay quintet came from behind to win this game in the last half by a score of 36 to 27. Cousino scored 9 points to lead Clay.

The Reserves made it a double win, defeating their opponents 31 to 17.

DECEMBER 17, AT PERRYSBURG

A very determined squad went to Perrysburg and brought home a 40 to 38 victory. Cavas, one of the two seniors on the squad, led the victors with 15 points.

The preliminary went to Perrysburg, 42 to 27.

DECEMBER 30, ALUMNI

An experienced group of alumni came to Clay and defeated the varsity boys 36 to 34. The score at the half was 19 to 13 in favor of Clay. Wisdom was high point man with 11.

The Reserves also lost. The score was 40 to 27.

JANUARY 7, ROSSFORD

The Eagles won a thrilling 38-36 victory over a hard-fighting squad of Bulldogs. It was anybody's game to the very last. Cavas and Mercer each netted 13 points in this game.

The Reserves trounced their opponents 26 to 10 in the first game.

JANUARY 14, AT WHITMER

Clay ran up against a powerful Whitmer quintet and came away on the short end of a 53-25 score. They were outplayed all the way, lagging behind 26 to 11 at the half.

The Reserve team also lost, 28 to 16.

Basketball

JANUARY 15, OTTAWA HILLS

Both teams went all-out for a high score in this game, but the boys from Ottawa Hills went a little farther and came out on top of an 84 to 61 score. Mercer scored 19 for Clay.

The Reserves were completely outclassed this time and lost, 61 to 31.

JANUARY 21, AT SYLVANIA

Clay lost a hard-fought game to Sylvania, 55 to 41. The second half was just about even, but the 23-10 first-half score left a gap that was too wide to close. Mercer in his last game this year scored 19.

The Reserves lost 36 to 24 after playing to an 11-11 tie in the first two quarters.

JANUARY 28, AT MAUMEE

The sharp-shooting Maumee team proved too much for Clay to handle and won by a score of 59 to 25. Wisdom and Crews each scored 6 points for the Eagles.

The Reserves also were handed a hard 62 to 29 defeat.

FEBRUARY 4, PERRYSBURG

The Eagles dropped a hotly contested game to the Perrysburg squad, 58 to 50. This game saw Cavas, back in action after a leg injury, score 17 points.

The Reserves lost the opener, 52 to 35.

FEBRUARY 11, AT ROSSFORD

The Bulldogs played host to the Eagles and defeated them by a 60 to 28 final score. They were all-out to win, leading 24 to 9 at the half. Gallaher netted 8 for Clay.

The Reserve boys also lost their second encounter with Rossford, 38 to 27.

FEBRUARY 18, WHITMER

The high scoring Whitmer five visited Clay this time and whipped them, 62 to 27. The basket seemed to evade our boys throughout the entire game.

The Reserves were on the bottom of a 43-22 score.

FEBRUARY 25, SYLVANIA

Clay lost the last regular game of the season to Sylvania, 78 to 37. The boys tried hard, but they were no match for their superior opponents.

The Reserves were defeated in their final game, 59 to 23.

MARCH, WHITMER (TOURNAMENT)

Clay's opponent for the district tournament this year was Whitmer.

This year we were honored to have a member of the team chosen on the all-conference team. John Cavas was elected one of the best five players in the league.
